MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON

Edward H. Gregory

Congressman Rees called the writer in Mr. Glavin's absence apparently to express his concern that the Bureau may feel criticism was directed at it in connection with the headline appearing in the late edition of the Evening Star concerning a known Communist being kept on the Government payroll as a $10,000 a year official. He wanted the Director to know that there was no criticism meant toward the FBI at all.

A perusal of the article itself does not appear derogatory or critical of the FBI, although the headline is somewhat misleading.

Congressman Rees indicated that he might call the Director in the morning personally to convey this message to him.

Respectfully,

N. P. Callahan

On October 1, 1947 SA BILL RYAN of the WFO advised that an unknown individual, staying at an unknown hotel in Pulaski, called either CHARLES KRAIER or HERB SHILSEL, who works in the office of Senator CLAUDE PEPPER. Mr. RYAN requested the identity of the unknown individual staying in the hotel in Pulaski be determined.

Telephone number 2-1571 in Pulaski, Virginia is the Maple Shade Inn. Mr. M. E. RITSCH, the manager, is very reliable. He produced hotel registration card 2618, reflecting that a PALM WEBER, 728 17th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. arrived at room 326 at 1:50 P.M. September 30th and checked out early on the morning of October 2nd.

WEBER was described as white, young, wears glasses and has shifty eyes. WEBER contacted the hotel desk on the morning of October 1st and appeared concerned about a collect call he was expecting from Washington, D. C. He also made inquiry from an unidentified phone in the City of Pulaski as to whether the room clerk had a T. LEADER registered there. He was advised that LEADER had a reservation for Friday, October 3rd. LEADER was described as a labor organizer by Mr. RITSCH.

At 3:00 P.M. on October 1st, WEBER made a phone call to his wife in Washington, D. C., advising her to have a man, whose name began with the letter "S", and may be something like "SHERNEY" (not SHILSEL) to call PALMER WEBER collect, immediately at Pulaski, telephone number previously mentioned.

Between 6:00 and 7:00 P. M. a collect call from Washington reached WEBER.

Notations on instant registration card indicated only two long distance calls had been placed on the bill, each in the amount of $1.50 would be for a five minute call.

Contacts at the C. & P. Telephone Company, Pulaski, indicate that the billing will not be through that office until mid-November. Contacts with the telephone company in Richmond advise that the bills will not be through until early November.

No further action will be taken unless Washington Field Office specifically instructs. RUC

405 V. ST. 117TH STREET, NEW YORK 27, NEW YORK

ALGER HISS
PRESIDENT

Dear Citizen:

file Gregory Case 16337

White
[Signature]

The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace wishes to bring to your attention the UNITED NATIONS NEWS. Published by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, this monthly Bulletin about the United Nations is now endorsed and aided in its program by the Carnegie Endowment.

The purpose and scope of the UNITED NATIONS NEWS is to bring to its readers unbiased, factual and comprehensive information concerning the sessions of the U.N. and its related agencies. How well this is being accomplished is indicated by the opinions of leaders in the field of international relations who endorse the NEWS. Brief excerpts from statements which they have made may be found in the enclosed leaflet. This folder is the same size as the NEWS and contains a facsimile reproduction of the opening page of a recent issue. It also outlines, in more detail than a letter permits, the contents of the NEWS each month.

The UNITED NATIONS NEWS is now in its second year of publication. As old - and as young - as the U.N. this is a vital service to thousands of people in the United States and abroad. It is gratifying that this publication made its mark during the first year of its existence. The live interest evidenced by readers from every part of the globe in the all-important sessions of the U.N. constitutes a truly heartening participation program, and is good insurance that the goal of world understanding and world peace can be achieved.

As a public spirited citizen, a leader of thought in your own community, you too can benefit from the UNITED NATIONS NEWS. Whether you write, teach, speak or study, you owe it to yourself to be fully informed concerning these significant happenings.

The UNITED NATIONS NEWS is available at the special introductory rate of $2.50 for a full year, instead of the regular rate of $3. For this modest sum you will receive 12 issues of the NEWS on the first of each month. You will also receive an annual Index of Contents. The NEWS is available to undergraduate students at $2 a year. It is also available in large quantity (25 or more) at the same special rate.

It is our recommendation that you send in your order for the UNITED NATIONS NEWS. We believe that you will find the information that it brings you to be invaluable in your work as well as of vital interest. Your convenient order blank and postage prepaid envelope are enclosed.

Very sincerely yours,

Alger Hiss

ARMED FORCES AND ATOMIC CONTROL

HOW CAN nations feel secure from attack so long as nations around them are heavily armed? How can nations agree to disarm unless they feel secure from attack? The twin problems of security and disarmament thus form a vicious circle. For some while, the United Nations has attacked this circle by the only method that is apparently possible at present,—by nibbling away simultaneously at various portions of its circumference. During the past month, especially, this effort has constituted the most conspicuous, though not the most fruitful, feature of U.N. activities. Three different groups, concerned with different portions of the circle, have met frequently:

- The Security Council
- The Atomic Energy Commission
- The Commission on Conventional Armaments.

These groups have almost identical membership and use in rotation the same Council Chamber at Lake Success. Thus, many of the same faces have appeared day after day around the same table to discuss different aspects of the same important problem.

The weakness of the League of Nations proved to be that the Covenant made no provision for an international body to carry out its decisions. On paper, the Charter of the U.N. corrects this deficiency by providing for the Security Council to be put at the disposal of the Security Council. On June 4, for the first time, the Council took up the problem—how to translate this provision into men, guns, tanks, planes, and all the forms of equipment, munitions, bases and ships needed for an effective modern striking force.

For advice on military requirements, the Security Council's Military Staff Committee, composed of high-ranking generals and admirals of each of the Big Five. Over a year ago, the Security Council asked this Committee to draw up preliminary plans regarding the forces needed. The first steps to be taken would be the reaching of decisions on basic principles regarding the organization and equipment of these forces. The second step would be to fix their total or "overall" strength. Next, the size of the contributions of each Member nation would have to be determined. Then, presumably, the Security Council would proceed to negotiate special agreements with the Member nations, formally listing the "armed forces, assistance and facilities" which these nations would agree to make available to U.N. whenever the Security Council might call upon them.

The Military Staff Committee submitted its first report on May 3. It dealt only with the first of these steps. Its outstanding feature was its clear presentation of the basic principles on which there must be agreement before a U.N. armed force can be established. On only a few of these basic principles were the five generals themselves able to reach agreement. Can the Security Council itself now iron out the disagreements on the others?

The most difficult stumbling block has been the so-called "principle of equality." In the words of the Chinese delegate, "should the big powers contribute 'a man for a man, a tank for a tank, a plane for a plane and a ship for a ship' or is it sufficient that their contributions be 'comparable' but not necessarily numerically equal at every point? The Soviet delegate insisted on the principle of equality. He argued that failure to adopt it may lead 'to a predominant position of some states and might also lead to the 'use of the . . . armed forces in the interests of individual powerful States and to the detriment of legitimate interests of other countries.'" The other delegates, except that of Poland, favored the opposite point

WHAT THE UNITED NATIONS NEWS IS

The UNITED NATIONS NEWS is a monthly publication sponsored and issued by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation. In its columns the proceedings of the United Nations and related agencies are objectively recorded in clear, concise and factual form, with absence of bias or propaganda. It is written so as to be easily understood.

HENRY P. VAN DUSEN, President of the Union Theological Seminary says of the UNITED NATIONS NEWS:

"Your NEWS is superb! It is a model of succinctness, clarity and usefulness, with just the proper seasoning with vivid phrase."

WHAT THE UNITED NATIONS NEWS CONTAINS

Each month the NEWS contains two or three main articles about the leading activities of the United Nations and its specialized agencies. So that the record will be complete, all other events are briefly noted in a department called "Notes of the Month." In another department devoted to "People in the News," personality information is given about the leading figures who take part in U.N. Bibliographies, valuable to student, lecturer and writer, are frequently included.

FRANCIS B. SAYRE, U. S. Representative on the Trusteeship Council of U.N. says of the NEWS:

"It fills a much needed place and through it the Foundation is performing a service of inestimable value in making readily accessible succinct information with regard to the current activities of the United Nations."

and, in the same connection . . .

PHILIP C. JESSUP, Professor of International Law, Columbia University:

"I am using it constantly, and find that its arrangement and documentation exactly fill the need of a person who is studying the work of the U.N. Keep it up!"

Often the NEWS reviews the complex background which lies behind a point under discussion so as to give readers a concrete understanding of what is taking place.

ROBERT A. GRAHAM, S. J., Editor of "America" says of the NEWS:

"Your editors employ great care in the gathering and digesting of data and they produce material that cannot be found elsewhere in such useful form."

Under the charter of U.N. a number of very important fields of activity are dealt with, not directly by U.N. but rather by "specialized agencies," such as the Food and Agriculture Organization, the International Bank, and the International Labor Organization. The UNITED NATIONS NEWS also covers the activities of these agencies, most of which receive scant attention in the press, although their activities are of the utmost importance to closer international cooperation.

DEAN ACHESON, Under Secretary of State, says of the UNITED NATIONS NEWS:

"... should be a distinct contribution to the publicizing of the work of the UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION and its related agencies."

WHO PUBLISHES THE UNITED NATIONS NEWS

The UNITED NATIONS NEWS is sponsored and published by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation which, since its inception in 1922 has maintained an active program for the furthering of international relations and of world peace. The UNITED NATIONS NEWS is a current part of the Foundation's program.

WHO READS THE UNITED NATIONS NEWS

Readers of the UNITED NATIONS NEWS include everyone interested in world events, and that means every thinking citizen of today. The NEWS is of particular value to leaders of thought, chairmen of club and other groups, speakers, writers, teachers and students.

QUINCY WRIGHT, Professor of International Law, University of Chicago, says of the UNITED NATIONS NEWS:

"It seems to me an excellent summary which ought to be in the hands of everyone who is interested in the development of international organization."

Never before you need "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth" about what is taking place. Your information Must be trustworthy and unprejudiced. You owe it to yourself to be informed.

Subscriptions from all over the world and from persons in all walks of life prove the value of the NEWS to others besides specialists. Everyone who is interested in world affairs today finds the NEWS helpful.

OLIN DOWNES, Music Critic of the New York Times says:

"What the Foundation is doing in providing complete factual information of the work of U.N. . . . is of greatest practical value, especially to people like myself who don't have time to watch the goings-on properly from day to day."

INTERESTING, USEFUL, ECONOMICAL—THE UNITED NATIONS NEWS IS A READING MUST.

THE PRESS SAYS:

The Woodrow Wilson Foundation at 45 East Sixty-fifth Street has begun issuing a monthly publication called "United Nations News," devoted entirely to news and reports of the meetings of the United Nations Organization, its functional agencies, and other international commissions.

The summary reports will be based on the texts of statements and documents issued by the international agencies. The "United Nations News" will not press any point of view or suggest legislative action.

The New York Herald Tribune

Nobody's Business

By Eleanor Roosevelt

The Woodrow Wilson Foundation publishes "The United Nations News" of which Beatrice Pitney Lamb is the editor, and this gives a clear, reliable summary of the activities of the United Nations and its related agencies.

It appears monthly, is unofficial and therefore freer than an official publication of the United Nations could be. It is brief, simply written and unbiased.

Reference is made to the attached memorandum from the Director, dated September 20, 1947, which refers to interviews conducted in this case at night time.

You will recall that when the original group was interviewed in Washington in April, 1947, these interviews were conducted after working hours, either at the subjects' homes or in the field office. This procedure was decided upon since it was not deemed advisable to interview subjects at their places of employment in the day time, particularly those then employed in Government offices.

The Director in the attached memorandum has instructed that in the future when interviews are conducted for information purposes only and the persons interviewed are not subject to arrest, that the interviews be conducted in the day time and preferably in field offices or at the place of business of the person to be interviewed.

The Director further instructed that the field offices be informed of these instructions for further guidance.

ACTION

There is attached hereto a Bureau Bulletin setting out the Bureau's policy in connection with interviews of persons not subject to arrest.

ASAC Belmont called and stated that he was worried about the mounting publicity in connection with the Grand Jury hearing in the Gregory Case. He stated that Norma Abrams had come into the Office and asked where it had come from. She pointed out that if the press in New York had printed similar stories, the New York reporters would have been called before the Grand Jury in contempt.

Mr. Belmont assured Miss Abrams that the Bureau was not putting out any stories concerning this matter.

Reference is made to the attached clipping from the "Baltimore Sun" dated September 20, 1947, concerning a speech made by Henry A. Wallace at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on the night of September 19. Wallace charged that the FBI is presently conducting a campaign of terror against "liberal" Government employees that is "reminiscent of the early days of Adolf Hitler". He asserted that "old friends and co-workers from my years in Washington report to me that Agents of the FBI are conducting a campaign of terror unequalled in our history. They are awakening liberal Government employees in the middle of the night and interrogating them at great length".

Your attention is invited to the attached memorandum from Mr. Nichols to Mr. Tolson dated September 19, 1947 concerning a statement made in the August 8 issue of the "United States News" that "Complaint is being heard that FBI Agents are routing out Government officials at all hours to ply them with questions in a loyalty examination". Mr. Nichols advised that [REDACTED]

In view of these repetitious statements, it is possible that Wallace obtained his information from the same source, or from two of his former advisors in the Commerce Department, namely subjects Edward Joseph Fitzgerald and Harry S. Magdoff. These subjects were interviewed at 9:30 p.m. on April 15, 1947, subsequent to a social engagement which they had in downtown Washington. Two other subjects, Bela and Sonia Gold, were interviewed at their home at 9:40 p.m. upon their return from a movie. You will recall that the first group of interviews were all made on the night of April 15, 1947.

Wallace And Taft Assail Administration Policies

Former Charges 'Campaign Of Terror' By FBI; Latter Attacks 'Planned Inflation'

Henry A. Wallace and Senator Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio) yesterday assailed policies of the Truman Administration, the former Vice President charging the FBI is conducting a Hitler-like "campaign of terror" against "liberal" Government employes and the Senator attacking what he called the Administration's policy of "planned inflation."

Wallace

By HOWARD NORTON

[San Staff Correspondent]

Philadelphia, Sept. 19—Henry A. Wallace charged here tonight that the FBI is conducting a campaign of terror against "liberal" Government employes that is "reminiscent of the early days of Adolf Hitler."

Warning an audience of more than 13,000 at Convention Hall that Americans are in danger of losing their political liberties, the former Vice President declared:

"Old friends and coworkers from my years in Washington report to me that agents of the FBI are conducting a campaign of terror unequalled in our history."

'Awakened At Night'

"They are awakening liberal Government employes in the middle of the night and interrogating them at great length."

"These actions are being kept quiet, he continued, adding:

"We must demand an end to this silent reign of terror. We must return to American principles."

Wallace accused President Truman of fostering war hysteria in ordering the immediate swearing in of James V. Forrestal as Defense Secretary a week ahead of schedule.

He repeated the charge he made last week in Madison Square Garden that Wall Street and the Army are running the country. He reiterated the threat to organize a third party if the Democratic party refuses to adopt "liberal" principles.

Wallace spoke tonight under the auspices of the Eastern Pennsyl-

[Chief of Washington Bureau]

San Francisco, Sept. 19—Senator Robert A. Taft tonight closed eight days of presidential soundings in California and headed eastward to Nevada.

The climax of the visit was the Senator's attack on what he calls the Truman Administration's policy of "planned inflation," and the tendering of his own program for halting runaway prices—in an address before San Francisco's Commonwealth Club.

Outstanding Proposals

Outstanding among his proposals were:

1. Stabilization of wages and prices at some new level, perhaps 50 or 60 per cent above the 1939 level.

2. An increase of the minimum wage from the present 40 cents an hour to "at least" 60 cents.

Tells Of Oversight

Actually the Senator did not give voice to his minimum wage boost proposal in his address, although it appeared in the advance texts of the address and already was in print in local newspapers before he spoke.

At a press conference held immediately after the speech the Senator said it was an oversight that he failed to read the recommendation.

"I must have lost my place in reading my manuscript," he explained. "I now reaffirm the statement made in the text. My failure to read that part was purely accidental."

When the Senator, who is chair-

'Liberal' U.S. Employees Waked

vania Chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America.

More than 9,000 tickets were sold in advance, at prices ranging from 60 cents to $3.60. The proceeds, after paying for the hall, will go into the P.C.A. political war chest.

Wallace talked on the eve of the departure from Philadelphia of the Freedom Train, which has been on exhibit here for the last three days, and he took as his theme "The Encroachments On Our Fundamental Political Liberty."

He charged that the "monopoly capitalists" are undermining civil liberties at home and abroad "in the name of stopping communism and defending democracy."

"The Americans most dominated by Moscow are the monopoly capitalists and their agents in the Administration and the Congress," Wallace said.

'They Fear Democracy'

"They are those who let any Russian action determine a counteraction regardless of its violation of American principles.

"They do not fear communism," Wallace shouted. "They fear democracy."

Predicting it will be said he is giving ammunition to the Communists by criticizing the inconsistency of policies at home and abroad, the former Vice President added: "Let it be clearly understood that the ammunition is not the criticism, but the condition which is criticized."

Wallace pointed a finger at Mr. Truman as one of the chief breeders of war hysteria.

"Speaking of the campaign to breed hysteria," he declared, "I know of no recent incident quite as shocking to me as President Truman's instructions from the battleship Missouri that James Forrestal be sworn in immediately as Defense Secretary because of an international emergency."

'Method Of Breeding War'

Pointing out that the President refused to discuss the "emergency," Wallace continued:

"I insist that if there is a genuine emergency the people have the right to an explanation.

"If there is no emergency, this action rates as the very lowest method of breeding fear.

"It is not a technique which will make Russian stubbornness, it will certainly not endear us to peace-loving people anywhere in the world."

[Editor's Note—The dispatch which disclosed President Truman's order for the swearing in of the new Secretary of Defense made no mention of the word "emergency." Mr. Truman's reason for the act was said to be the "general international situation."]

Wallace predicted that another depression is now "almost inevitable."

To avoid it or cushion its effects, he said, "we must return to the necessary nuisance of rationing."

He urged his audience to send copies of their grocery bills to the White House to help the President understand the simple bread-and-butter issue that is troubling most Americans.

Tonight's crowd is claimed to be the biggest to attend a political rally here in recent years, and by far the biggest on record at any such meeting where admission was charged. All seats in the great Convention Hall were taken, and hundreds of persons were standing.

Zero Mostel Speaks

Before Wallace appeared, preliminary speakers and entertainers harangued the crowd for more than two hours.

Zero Mostel, night club comedian, made an imaginary telephone call to Moscow. He told the crowd so many people had accused him of being a Russian agent that he thought he would demonstrate how he did it.

Paul Robeson sang a song titled "The Purest Kind of a Guy," dedicated to Henry Wallace; "Old Man River," "Joe Hill," and several others.

Then he made a speech in which he called on the Negro people to "quit scrambling for crumbs and start to fight for their rights."

First Of Three Speeches

But Robeson got the biggest hand when he told the crowd to support Wallace, even if he has to organize a third party.

In a press conference at noon today Wallace said he is still trying to make the Democratic party over into a liberal party.

"I'm a very patient man," he said, in reply to a question as to whether he would support Mr. Truman. "But if Truman stands for war and illiberal policies, I certainly will not support him."

A current magazine article in which Henry Morgenthau, Jr., former Secretary of the Treasury, states that Wallace spent more than any of the other New Deal Cabinet men and "got away with murder," was called to his attention.

Wallace said he was willing to let his agricultural program stand on its merits.

"It was well worth the money spent," he declared. "It saved the soil of the country and served us well in time of war. I don't think either party would make a political issue of the agriculture program."

Today's was the first of three Wallace speeches in the Philadelphia area this week end. He is to appear at Veterans Hall in Trenton, N.J., at noon tomorrow, and in Constitution Hall at Camden, N.J., at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

On Monday Wallace is scheduled to address the international convention of the United Electrical Workers at the Hotel Bradford in Boston.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

Gregory Case

In view of the recurring publicity emanating from Henry Wallace's statement that the Bureau is waking up Government employees in the middle of the night and interrogating them, I think we should address a letter to him and ask him to advise us specifically and in detail the persons interviewed in connection with the Loyalty investigations to which he makes reference. If Wallace furnishes us names and these people are subjects in the Gregory Case, as we know they are, I think we can write him and point out they were interviewed in connection with a Bureau investigation of an espionage ring in which Grand Jury proceedings are pending. If he evades a direct answer or does not otherwise furnish us with details we are then in a position to point out where it is to our advantage to do so that we asked Wallace to furnish details which he failed to furnish.

Respectfully,

Edu. A. Tamm

SUBJECT:

Gregory Case

Reference is made to the memorandum dated October 9, 1947, from Mr. Nichols to Mr. Tolson, relating to information received from Jim Walter, who had a blind memo written by an unnamed Catholic priest.

I called ASAC Lally, Baltimore, at 11:30 a.m. to determine if they had any known information concerning a mail drop at Westminster, Maryland. He stated they had no information. I instructed him to check to determine the identity of any known Communists at Westminster, known to the office at present or in the past, and to furnish this information as soon as it could be obtained.

For the information of the Bureau and interested offices, there is set forth hereafter a summary of conversations containing plans and suggestions to obstruct and embarrass the House Committee on un-American Activities in its forthcoming hearings pertaining to communist activities in Hollywood.

The identity of the persons involved (including individuals under current investigation) and the pattern of activities are believed to be of interest to the Bureau. A considerable portion of the material is concerning [REDACTED] Confidential sources and the page references (logs) are set forth.

As a matter of interest having possible bearing on later conversations, it is noted on the evening of September 16, 1947, a conference was held in the apartment residence of Senator CLAUDE PEPPER, 1661 Crescent Place, N. W., from approximately 8:30 p.m. until 3:07 a.m. In attendance were observed subject CHARLES KRAMER; MARTIN POPPER, vice president, National Lawyers Guild; HERBERT SCHIMMEL, presently with Congressman GEORGE HENDER's Subcommittee on per diem basis; and HERMAN EDELSBERG, now with Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

Why Does Not Mr. Wallace
Give Us The Specific Details?

In his speech in Philadelphia Mr. Henry A. Wallace declared that the FBI is conducting a campaign of terror against "liberal" Government employes that is "reminiscent of the early days of Adolf Hitler." According to Mr. Wallace old friends and co-workers of his in Washington report that employes are being awakened in the middle of the night and interrogated at great length.

This is a serious charge that should not be lightly dismissed, whoever the employes may be. But obviously no action is possible against the generalizations that Mr. Wallace presented to his audience in Philadelphia. What are needed are names and dates and detailed accounts of the alleged actions of the FBI. If the situation is as bad as Mr. Wallace says it is then, surely, he and his friends should see that the facts are provided.

Indeed, if Mr. Wallace is convinced in his own mind that the FBI is guilty of conduct reminiscent of the early days of Hitler, it is surprising that he has not himself taken the initiative in assembling the evidence and referring direct charges instead of being content merely to indulge in generalities.

At 4:05 PM today, ASAC Belmont called and read the following news item appearing in the New York Journal American for Wednesday, October 22, 1947. The article appears on page one and is entitled "U. S. Envoy under FBI Probe in Red Plot" by Howard Rushmore. The date line is Washington, October 22. The item reads as follows:

"A State Department official with the rank of Ambassador and a Government employee who worked on the Los Alamos atomic project are under investigation as members of a Communist espionage ring, it was learned today.

"Picked Department of Justice Agents are not only presenting evidence to the special Grand Jury in New York City on these persons, but on other Washington officials who are part of a Soviet conspiracy to steal America's top military secret.

"In New York the Grand Jury reconvened today at the Foley Square Court House and subpoenas have been issued for witnesses to appear today, tomorrow and Friday. High local representatives of the Communist Party are reported on the subpoena list.

"It is known that J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, plans about twenty-five indictments before the special Grand Jury before the end of the year, despite efforts of Democratic party leaders to have the disclosures postponed until after the Presidential election next year.

"Also involved in the Grand Jury investigations is a State Department official who is known to have been a leader of the Communist Party cell setup in Washington a decade ago by Harold Ware, member of the Red Fascist Central Committee.

"This 'cell' was planned by Russian Secret Police Agents for the sole purpose of gathering any and all information valuable to the Soviets. By a secret courier system, the information was centralized by the 'cell' members and taken to the Russian Embassy.

"The State Department official is suspected of aiding the plot to pass this confidential information on to the Russians was a Presidential adviser at the Yalta and Potsdam Conferences and at San Francisco."

Mr. Belmont advised that they thought possibly the State Department official to whom he is referring may be Laughlin Currie, a subject in the Gregory case.

MOVIE AGENT

LINKED TO COMMIE

SPY PLOT

Supersonic Plane Pilot Called Victim

Quiz Uproar Causes
Ejection of Lawyer
By WILLARD EDWARDS

A tale of espionage by Communism through motion picture agents in Hollywood shocked the House Un-American Activities committee yesterday at the second day of hearings on subversive influences in the motion picture colony.

The afternoon session was twice interrupted by demonstrations of other employees named earning from attorneys representing 19 from $500 to $5,000 a week while directors and writers under attack. Police ejected one lawyer at an attempt to undermine the American system of government, are the order of Chairman Thomas.

Notables in Spotlight
In the spotlight as witnesses were Adolphe Menjou, veteran actor; Rupert Hughes, well-known author, and John C. Moffitt, motion picture critic and script writer.

Their testimony added more than a score of names to the list of high-salaried workers in the film capital who have been accused of seeking to propagandize the American people in behalf of Communism through motion pictures. Eighteen directors and writers were similarly charged Monday.

Pictures on pages 4 and 20.

The three witnesses agreed that Communism was lessening its grip in the movie industry but all the actors, directors, writers and other employees named earning from $500 to $5,000 a week while working to undermine the American system of government, are still employed in the industry, they noted.

Committeemen Startled
Moffitt told the story involving the disclosure of military secrets which startled committee members. He said the case was now the subject of investigation by the FBI.

The unfortunate center of this plot, according to Moffitt, was a young test pilot, "Slick" Goodlin, who was much publicized early this year as the operator of the Army's new supersonic speed plane, the XS-1.

Goodlin was induced to come to Hollywood, Moffitt said, by John Weber, head of the literary department of the William Morris agency, a "talent organization" which specializes in the "sale" of actors and actresses and story plots to the motion picture studios.

Confidential Data Given
Weber, Moffitt declared, was under orders from Communist party headquarters in New York. He told Goodlin, according to the testimony, that the pilot had "a wonderful story to sell" regarding the new plane.

Goodlin protested, Moffitt said, that he was under military supervision.

vision and that any information would have to be passed by the military intelligence, and was assured that this precaution would be taken. He was asked to furnish a "sample article" concerning the plane.

"The young pilot was foolish enough to comply," Moffitt told the committee. "He gave them an article containing, I am told much confidential information. Weber got the article. Goodlin was transferred from the assignment and the FBI has now taken up the case."

Weber was active among Hollywood writers, Moffitt said, and instructed one meeting of motion picture authors how to get "anti-Fascist" literature into the popular magazines, boasting that Collier's magazine had printed such articles in recent months.

Red Cards Admitted

Moffitt also read into the record portions of an investigation by the Hollywood Reporter, a trade magazine, which asked a number of film notables the direct question: "Are you a member of the Communist party, card No. _____?" presumably based on information gathered.

Among the writers who neither answered nor denied the implication of membership in the Communist party, Moffitt reported, were the following:

Albert Maltz, writer, No. 48,062; Dalton Trumbo, writer, No. 36,905; Gordon Kahn, No. 48,294; Ring Lardner Jr., No. 25,109; Richard J. Collins, No. 11,148; Harold Buchman, No. 46,802; Lester Cole, 46,803; Henry Myer, 25,065; William Palmer, no number given; Harry Raff, 25,113; Harold Salenson and John Wexley, no numbers given.

A number of those thus mentioned were in the audience, waiting to be called as witnesses, and Charles J. Katz, one of the six attorneys representing them, jumped up.

"Put That Man Out"

"Mr. Chairman, I represent a number of these persons," he shouted. "Do you want a fair hearing—?"

The chairman banged his gavel. Katz continued to shout. Thomas repeated what he had said Monday, that all the witnesses would be given a chance to testify when their turn came.

"Put that man out of the room," Thomas finally ordered when Katz continued to yell and four policemen hustled Katz to the door.

A little later, Bartley C. Crum, another of the attorneys, staged a similar demonstration.

"This is an un-American hearing!" he shrieked. He subsided when police moved in and was not ejected.

Both Katz and Crum have defended Communist party members in recent court cases, committee investigators said.

Red Methods Described

Moffitt, who said he has spent years investigating communism in Hollywood during his labors as a script writer there, proceeded to give more names of persons he characterized as party line followers.

His list included Frances Milington, head of the Paramount Studio Story Analyst section; Simon Malse, her assistant; Bernie Gordon, also with Paramount; Naomi and Davie Robison, "readers" in the Warner Brothers studio; Thomas Chapman, of Enterprise studio; Michael Uris, of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer; Jessie Byrnes and ona Packer, studio not given.

Moffitt testified at length concerning the manner in which Communist followers injected propaganda into motion pictures. He asked that he be permitted to name Communist-flavored productions in executive session because "million-dollar productions are involved and I hesitate to do anyone injustice." The committee agreed.

"They employ the drop of water technique," Moffitt said. "Just a small scene is enough to belittle Congress, smear the priesthood or the ministry, undermine faith in the free enterprise system."

Hughes, now 75 years old, advocated, like the other witnesses, outlawing of the Communist party. He said a Communist could be detected by his activities, views and associates.

"Screen Guild Dominated"

"Those 19 gentlemen back there," he said, referring to the waiting writers and directors, "have already labeled themselves as Communists by their attitudes."

"The Screen Writers Guild is absolutely Communist-dominated," he testified. "Writers who are anti-Communist have been driven to starvation in Hollywood because they can't get employment. The producers are responsible. They have been unmitigably lax in clearing out men earning $2,000 to $5,000 a week who are known to be Communists."

"The producers are afraid to make an anti-Communist picture," he told the committee. "I was approached some time ago by Warner Brothers to make a picture ridiculing communism. Al Jolson, a stockholder, was enthusiastic. I was paid $15,000 to furnish a 5,000-word plot."

"Then Hal Wallis, associate producer, heard of it and said it was insane even to think of such a thing. The Communists would put a stinkpot in every theater where the film was shown, he said. I still have both the $15,000 and the story."

"Threatened by Red's Wife"

Hughes said he had been told that Carveth Wells, the explorer, sold motion pictures he made in Russia to Sol Lesser, a producer, and that Lesser was planning a production when he was threatened by "the wife of a prominent Communist."

"If you show that picture, we will cut up the upholstery and destroy every theater where it is shown," Hughes quoted the woman as saying.

Menjou, tastefully attired in a brown suit with white pencil stripe, barked his testimony in the rapid-fire style familiar to movie-goers. There was loud and prolonged applause when he concluded.

He gave his birthplace as Pittsburgh, his age as 57. He has spent 34 years in the moving picture industry, 27 of them in Hollywood, he said. He enlisted as a private in the first World War, rose to officer rank and spent two years in France.

Communist propaganda in the movies is subtle, he said, often pointed up by a mere glance, an inflection of the voice, or a grimace. But "Mission to Moscow" and "North Star" were blatantly communist films which "should never have been made."

"They were thoroughly dishonest pictures," Menjou told the committee. "They distorted the facts and deceived the people about Russia. Fortunately both pictures were unsuccessful."

No Anti-Red Picture

"No anti-communistic picture has ever been made. I think such a picture would be tremendously successful and its success would cause others to be made."

Committee counsel Robert E. Stripling referred to Monday's testimony by Sam Wood and Jack L. Warner in which five directors and 13 script writers were labeled as communist propagandists.

"I know a great many in Hollywood who act an awful lot like Communists," said Menjou. "John Cromwell, the director, told me in a conversation in his home that capitalism in America was finished and I would see the day when it was through."

"Cromwell makes $250,000 a year and owns a great deal of Los Angeles and Hollywood real estate. He has profited under the capitalistic system yet he hates it," he said he didn't know if Cromwell was a Communist, but "he acts an awful lot like one."

Herbert K. Sorrell, head of the conference of Hollywood studio unions and president of the Painters' union, was a Communist party member under the name of Herbert K. Stewart, Menjou testified. He produced a photostatic copy of a party card bearing the name of Stewart, which, he said, had been studied by handwriting experts and pronounced the signature of Sorrell. He handed it over to Stripling.

Disastrous Film Strike

"I would be very suspicious of people who support Sorrell's acts," he continued. "We have had a long and disastrous strike in Hollywood and Sorrell has been responsible for almost incredible brutality, beatings and violence. It has been an outrageous performance. God help Hollywood if a man like Sorrell gets control. At a guild meeting a year ago, an effort was made by the Screen

Actors' guild, headed by Ronald Reagan, to settle the strike. Sorrell opposed it.

His side was supported by Edward G. Robinson, Hume Cronyn, Alexander Knox and Paul Henreid."

Communist party members in the movie colony, Menjou said, are unquestionably agents of the comintern in Moscow.

"They are definitely engaged in treasonable activities," he commented.

Menjou recommended outlawing of the Communist party by Congress because "it is not a political party but a conspiracy to take over the government by force."

"I have been attacked as a witchhunter and Red-baiter," he remarked. "I'm a witchhunter if the witches are communists and a Red-baiter, too. I think we should send them all to Russia. I think a taste of Russia would cure 'em."

"The Russian people are completely enslaved. Molotov and Vishinsky are enslaved. Mr. Stalin would just as soon kill them as look at them."

He said Stalin got rid of Lenin and Gorky.

"He acted a great deal like Mr.

Capone," Menjou said. "He committed the murders, then he killed the witnesses."

Committee members asked the witness' opinion why script writers like Dalton Trumbo, Lester Cole and Donald Ogden Stewart, receiving from $1,000 to $3,000 a week, should uphold the communistic system.

"We have crackpots, political idiots and the lunatic fringe in California," was the reply. "But there has been an amazing change in California since this committee started its work. If people will only take the trouble to read about the horrors of the Soviet system and compare them with our system, they will wake up. If capitalism does as well in the next 50 years as it has in the past 50 years, there'll be no trouble at all."

"What is your impression," asked Rep. Vail (R) of Illinois "of those actors, some of them waiting here to be called as witnesses, who attack these hearings as a 'smear' and an attempt at movie censorship?"

"They're innocent dupes, some of them," said Menjou. "I'm sorry for them. Others have a definite purpose in mind. Anyone making such a statement hasn't the intelligence of a louse."

Urged to give a "test of communistic sympathizers," Menjou said that "anyone who attends the meetings of Paul Robeson and who isn't ashamed to listen to the communism there has no excuse."

Menjou disagreed with Louis B. Mayer, head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, who Monday recommended that the employment of Communists in industry be regulated

"I don't like that," he said. "It's too reminiscent of the barring of Cecil B. de Mille from the radio because he refused to contribute one dollar to a political movement. If you smoke out the Communists and label them, the public will take care of them."

Moffitt, the next witness, a scenario writer and motion picture critic for 17 years, told of his experiences after he and his wife joined the Hollywood Anti-Nazi league in 1937.

At a "starchamber" meeting attended by Frank Tuttle, director; Herbert Biberman, director; Gale Sondergard, actress, and Donald Stewart, he had his eyes opened to the real character of the league, he said.

"They spoke of themselves as 'we Communists,'" he said. "The purpose of the meeting was to raise funds for the People's World, a Communist paper. My wife resigned but I stayed in for six weeks to see how the league worked."

"My most significant conversation was with John Howard Lawson, the script writer, who gave advice on how to inject Communist propaganda into films."

"Do not try to write an entire Communist picture, Lawson said, because the producers will identify it and kill it. Try to get five minutes of the party line into every picture. Choose an expensive scene with high-salaried actors and costly sets so that if the matter is discovered, the budget director will resist its elimination because of the cost."

"If you can make the message come from the mouth of someone like Gary Cooper who won't realize what he is saying, that is preferable."

At a "school for actors" in Hollywood, Lawson was quoted as giving this advice to young men and women aspirants to the screen:

"It is your duty to further the class struggle by your performance. If you're appearing in white flannels in a country club scene, try your best to look like a snob and emphasize the decadence of the scene as a reflection on society. If you're in a tenement scene, look downtrodden and a victim of existing society."

Moffitt was assigned to work with Trumbo on a picture in 1941, he said, but Trumbo, receiving $2,000 a week, appeared at the studio only twice in a 10-week period. Trumbo explained he was busy "blocking lend-lease and war-monger Roosevelt in his capitalistic war." This was at the time of the Berlin-Moscow pact when the party line was anti-war, Moffitt remarked. The line changed on the day that Germany invaded Russia.

Spy Ring to Be Broken Soon by U. S. Agencies' Action

Disloyalty in Six Federal Bureaus With Fifty Americans Plotting Against Own Country Believed Traced.

By EDWARD NELLOR.
Special to THE NEW YORK SUN.

The New York Sun Bureau,
Washington, Oct. 16.

A Communist-controlled spy ring, which wove its disloyal tentacles into at least six governmental agencies and paid or persuaded at least fifty Americans to serve as espionage agents, will be cracked wide open soon, The New York Sun was reliably informed today.

Aids formerly in the State, Commerce and Treasury departments, Office of Strategic Services and individuals associated with the development of atomic bombs are involved in a ring which has been described by a top-ranking governmental security officer as having "gigantic proportions." The FBI for more than four years has been compiling evidence, which has been presented to the special Grand Jury sitting in New York since last June.

Some Indictments Due.

T. Vincent Quinn, Assistant Attorney-General, and Thomas J. Donegan, a special Department of Justice assistant, in the New York office of the FBI, have handled the vital case before the Grand Jury, and it is understood that the Grand Jury is ready with indictments against some individuals involved.

Actually, the first Red cell connected with the present ring started operations in 1934 in a governmental agency. Funds were supplied from Moscow for the cell, which had its headquarters in a violin studio at Washington.

From this beginning, well-coached Communists spread into other Federal agencies, starting new cells which continued, in turn, to supply secret information to a foreign Power. This information included, in addition to the war-time secrets of the atomic bomb, proximity-fuse data, production figures on minerals, aircraft, guided missiles, and mobilization.

Reference is made to the attached clipping from "PM" dated October 20, 1947 entitled "What's Behind 'Leak' of Red Hunt Secrets?". This article which was written by I. F. Stone stated that the author had learned from persons who had been questioned that the methods used in connection with their questioning was that two FBI men questioned the suspect without a stenographer and then asked him later to sign an account of the inquiry as recalled by the Agents. Stone said that if the person questioned protested that the account given him to sign was not accurate, he was told that it would be "your word against ours" — one suspect against two FBI men. He went on to state that one of those questioned spent most of a day in a frank talk with Agents and then was dismayed at the report he was asked to sign of the purported conversation. The suspect claimed that it was inaccurate and refused to put his name to it.

Another part of the article said that a minor Government employee of old American stock was appealed to on the ground that he wasn't like the "riff-raff who had just come over."

You penned a notation to the article asking "What do we know about references to us and the interviews?".

As to the methods used in questioning subjects, you may recall that the Field was instructed that two Agents should be present during the conduct of interviews with subjects. It is believed that Stone made reference to the interview had with Harold Glasser, a Treasury Department employee who was interviewed by two Agents of the Washington Field Office immediately upon his return to this country from an assignment abroad. He was interviewed originally at his convenience in the Washington Field Office on April 30, 1947 from 10:00 A.M. to 11:45 A.M. at which time it was necessary for him to leave due to a prior commitment. He agreed to return at his convenience to continue the interview.

He was again interviewed on May 3, 1947 at the Washington Field Office from 10:12 A.M. to 12:25 P.M. Thereafter a statement was prepared and on May 7, 1947 he was requested to come to the Washington Field Office to sign this statement. He appeared at the Field Office at 2:00 P.M. the same day and read a prepared statement 8 pages in length. After reading the statement, he stated that he would rather call the meetings he attended with a man named Art Witt "social worker meetings" instead of Communist Party meetings.

He also stated that he had not said that he was a member of the American League Against War and Fascism, but that he may have been a member. Glasser refused to sign the statement unless the changes were made in these two instances. The interviewing agents asked Glasser if he would sign the statement if the changes were made, although it was pointed out to him that he had made the statements as set out by them, and he said that he had talked to his attorney and would not sign the statement even if the changes were made. He also made stipulations to the effect that he would like his attorney to have a copy of the statement, etc. In view of his attitude, the changes were not made and the interview was terminated at 2:30 P.M. at which time Glasser left the office.

Stone's reference to a minor Government employee of old American stock who was appealed to on the ground that he wasn't like the "riff-raff who had just come over" could possibly be Duncan C. Lee, a former employee of OSS who is from a family of old American stock, the Lees being an old Virginia family.

Lee was interviewed on May 29, 1947 in his law office in Washington by Special Agents Charles G. Cleveland and W. Raymond Wannall of the Washington Field Office. Special Agent Wannall, who is presently assigned to the Bureau, has advised that in approaching Lee they mentioned that both he and his family were an American family of many generations and that his interest in the welfare of the country was the same as those of the Agents interviewing him. Wannall stated that the word "riff-raff" was not used by the Agents and neither was any comparison made between Lee and any of the other subjects. In fact, none of the other subjects were mentioned directly or by inference.

It would appear from this article that the subjects are furnishing information to such writers as Stone in an effort to discredit the Bureau and the Department so that they can build up a defense for themselves in order to sway the public and members of the Grand Jury.

What's Behind Plane Survivors

Rescued Complain

Carefully Planted Hints or Grand Jury Action Seen As Pressure Tactic

Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON

Who is trying to high-pressure the special New York grand jury which has been hearing evidence in a new Federal undercover "Red hunt" which began here last Spring?

This is the question raised in the Capital by what appears to be a carefully planted series of leaks last week which resulted in screaming headlines. "High U. S. Officials Linked to Red Spy Ring" in the Washington Times-Herald on Thursday and similar scare heads in the New York Mirror and the New York Sun.

Too Well Timed

Inquiry disclosed a curious sequence of events: The splurge in the press of grand jury secrets followed reports in authoritative quarters last week that no indictments would be returned by the New York jury.

The question raised by the timing and content of the leaks is whether someone in the Justice Dept. in close touch with the inquiry is seeking by this means to create an atmosphere in which it may be very difficult for the grand jury not to return indictments.

Washington has become accustomed to the spectacle of officials trying cases against Reds and alleged Reds in the press under circumstances which make it hard for leftists of any kind to get a fair trial in the District of Columbia.

But last week's flurry of leaks and headlines indicated that the process is now being taken a step further behind the closed doors of the grand jury room, hitherto barred from publicity by some of the oldest and most cherished traditions of Anglo-American law.

Grand jury proceedings have always been secret. The purpose, based on precedents more than 10 centuries old, is, as stated in past cases, "to protect the innocent accused, who is exonerated, from disclosure of the fact that he has been under investigation" and "to protect grand jurors... so that the jurors may deliberate and vote without fear that their conduct will be disclosed elsewhere."

Both purposes are being defeated by leaks to the professionally hysterical anti-Red and anti-Soviet press:

Descriptions of persons involved in the investigation, as published in those papers, have in many cases become easily identifiable.

The nature of the publicity is such as to make it appear that the grand jury will be violating its duty if no indictments are returned.

Designed for 3 Reasons

In some cases the secrecy of grand jury deliberations is being violated to smear, in thinly veiled descriptions, former officials of honorable record, some of whom have been through the wringer of Red hunt investigation many times before.

Usually the easily recognizable descriptions dwell on past accusations but omit past clearances.

The "red hunt" which began here last Spring seemed designed for three purposes:

To picture the Morgenthau plan for Germany as a Red plot.

To smear Wallace and certain Senators friendly to him.

To advance a little private vendetta in which the FBI had been raising the OSS.

The methods used, as this correspondent learned from persons who had been questioned, was for two FBI men at a time to question the "suspect" without a stenographer and then ask him later to sign an account of the inquiry as recalled by the agents.

Dismayed At Report

If the person questioned protested that the account given him to sign was not accurate, he was told that then it would be "your word against ours"—one suspect against two FBI men.

One of those questioned spent most of a day in a frank talk with FBI agents and then was dismayed at the report he was asked to sign of the purported conversation. He claimed it was inaccurate and refused to put his name to it.

A certain tinge of anti-Semitism appeared in the inquiry and some agents seemed to think that one had to be an American of several generations ancestry to qualify as loyal.

He Wasn't Riff-Raff

A minor government employee of old American stock was appealed to on the ground that he wasn't like the riff-raff "who had just come over" and in two cases "Aryans" seemed to have become an object of suspicion because they had Jewish wives.

The "leaks" to the right wing press last week disclosed that a grand jury in New York has been considering cases growing out of this Red hunt since last July but they also disclosed that no indictment had yet been returned.

The first story, in Thursday's Times-Herald, said only that "high ranking officials" were "under investigation" in what a very high Government official told the paper was a case "of towering proportions."

The next day's story said these same men were "on the verge of being indicted."

Usually district attorneys can obtain indictments with little difficulty in any situation where enough of a prima facie case can be spelled out to warrant trial of the facts. There was some speculation here as to whether prosecuting authorities, as distinct from investigating authorities, were as impressed with the allegations made as the latter would like them to be.

Thus the "very high government official" who took it on himself to violate the secrecy of grand jury proceedings "predicted," according to the Times-Herald of Thursday, "that failure of the grand jury to return indictments against the persons involved would presage a complete flop of President Truman's loyalty program."

Another form of veiled threat and smear is seen in the second day's story which said: "Among those certain to be indicted, unless the Communists and their influential frontiers can block the return of true bills, is a former State Dept. official who is a pal of Jimmy Roosevelt."

This is to tell the grand jury in advance that unless true bills are returned, the jury will be smeared in the right-wing press.

To SumUp

The situation, to sum up, is this:
If the Government has evidence of a Red plot and spy ring, let it obtain indictments and take them to trial.

Violation of grand jury secrecy is a serious offense, punishable by contempt and grounds for motions to void indictments obtained by bringing outside pressure on the grand jury.

The present scare campaign, by violating grand jury secrecy and trying to obtain indictments in the press, seriously undermines one of the basic and traditional safeguards of Anglo-American law against unfair and unscrupulous accusations.

In connection with the information to follow which was furnished by the information furnished by this informant surveillance, it is noted that the subject and his wife were absent from Washington during most of August and part of September, 1947. MR. PLANN spent considerable time in New York City arranging for the publication of a new book he has written, while his wife, EMILY, and her daughter, EMILY, spent most of this same period at a summer resort in Maryland. During August and September, the PLANN apartment was sublet to WHITE ALDENSON and HENRY COCHRAN, both employees of the Foreign Information Branch of CIG until recently. It is of interest that these two employees have been terminated by CIG because of questionable loyalty.

CATHERINE HURLEY had a lengthy conversation with DORIS PLENN, in which they discussed such individuals as DEWITT ELDRIDGE of George Washington University and his wife, HOPE, ANNE KYDD of the King Smith School, MARTIN POPPER, of the National Lawyers' Guild, and others. The chief topic of conversation on this occasion concerned the fall lecture series which is being organized at the King Smith School. CATHERINE pointed out that ANNE KYDD has arranged some seventeen lectures, including very interesting people from "Fascists to Communists" and among the speakers scheduled to lecture are such persons as MORRIS ERNST, LEON BERKHEAD (phonetic), MARTIN POPPER, ROBERT WEAVER, CLAUDE PEPPER and BOB TAFT. It is to be noted that CATHERINE HURLEY is considered generally pro-Communist and there has been considerable indication that the political philosophy course at the King Smith School, which last year was conducted by PALMER WEBER, also of interest in this case, appeared to have a strongly pro-Communist bent. It is further noted that DEWITT ELDRIDGE and MARTIN POPPER have been of considerable interest in the GREGORY investigation and both of them appear to have strong pro-Communist sentiments.

October 4, 1947

CATHERINE HURLEY had a conversation with ABEL and DORIS PLENN, at which time CATHERINE asked DORIS to tell her about a meeting to be held that evening in Chevy Chase. DORIS explained the meeting was to be held at 3736 Kanawha Street, which is the residence of MARK and EUGENIA BAKER, both of whom have previously been identified as Communist sympathizers. DORIS commented that the meeting is in honor of Mrs. MANNING, who is in Washington under the auspices of the American Abraham Lincoln Brigade. MANNING is apparently identical with the British member of Parliament who has been in the United States speaking in favor of the anti-Franco forces.

ABEL PLENN spoke to MERCER COOK of Howard University. The conversation was quite long and friendly and indicated that PLENN is continuing his friendly relationship with COOK. It is to be noted that COOK includes a number of Communist sympathizers and suspected Communists among his friends and associates. It is also of interest to note that in this conversation PLENN commented that he expected to be in Washington for about ten days, after which time he and his wife definitely expect to move to New York City. 5. On August 18, 1947, MILLER informed RANDY FELTUS that DUNE ALKMAN had a party for a girl by the name of LYNCH and she asked MILLER whether he (MILLER) and RANDY FELTUS were associated and BOB informed her that they were. RANDY told BOB to mention to LYNCH RANDY'S connection at the Treasury, also the KAISER connection and the ROOSEVELT stuff.

On the same date, MILLER inquired of EDWARD HARRIS, Woodley 2800, how HELEN GARAGAN DOUGLAS could be reached. ED suggested BOB consult a Congressional Directory.

On August 23, 1947, BARRY LEROY informed JENNIE MILLER to say that he had contacted (CHARLIE) KRAMER about a job for FLO LEVY. KRAMER suggested LEVY come to see him. BARRY stated that KRAMER was a nice fellow but is neurotic and "flies off the handle" sometimes.

On September 9, 1947, MILLER contacted BEN RODMAN stating that he (MILLER) would contact SHIRLEY RODMAN the following weekend.

On September 15, JENNIE MILLER contacted SHIRLEY LEWIS, subject of a separate case in this office, regarding the condition of POLYMERBRIGHT, who was injured by being struck by a car when returning from a party at HELEN LEVY's, also subject of a separate case in this office.

On September 16, JENNIE MILLER contacted Dr. HARRY HEDGOTT stating that she had stopped at HEDGOTT's residence the previous evening but that nobody was home. HEDGOTT stated that he had married NANCY yesterday and bought a home on New Hampshire Avenue.

On September 26, JENNIE MILLER contacted the school where her child attends and stated that they (MILLERS) may possibly be moving to New York City in two to three months.

On September 30, 1947, MILLER contacted ABE FORTAS and stated that he (MILLER) was an old friend of a friend of FORTAS' named JACK FAHY. MILLER stated that he desired to see FORTAS urgently that morning. Inasmuch as FORTAS had to leave for New York promptly, he finally persuaded MILLER to discuss his problem over the telephone. MILLER then informed FORTAS that he (MILLER) had to appear before the Grand Jury in New York City October 1 at 10:30 A. M. FORTAS suggested MILLER contact FORTAS' partner, PAUL PORTER, in New York, who was working "on these State Department things." (This apparently refers to the recent State Department discharges of MCCORMACK BORAH and others on loyalty charges.) It was finally decided that MILLER and FORTAS were to contact each other when FORTAS returned to Washington, D. C., the same evening. MILLER later met FORTAS around 7:30 P. M. and remarked that he had a good talk with him. MILLER left for New York City on the 9 P. M. train.

Reference is made to the attached article by Howard Rushmore entitled, "Red on Senator's Staff Probed". The article mentions that Department of Justice agents are investigating the activities of a Washington left-winger who is on the staff of a prominent Democratic Senator. It stated that the investigation is part of the special Grand Jury inquiry into Soviet Espionage. The article states that evidence has been obtained showing that the Senator's employee was in contact with members of the underground "cell" maintained by the Communists in Washington. It said that this employee worked with other "Reds" who had wormed their way into executive jobs in various Government Agencies and that "cell" was formed as a "clearing house" for military information. It went on to state that each member of the "cell" was assigned a job of stealing documents, blueprints, and copying diplomatic reports which were brought to weekly "cell" meetings and then turned over to a courier who relayed them to the Russian Embassy.

Mention was made of secret meetings at a farm near Quakertown, Pennsylvania, which served as a center for the espionage ring and was used as a "mail drop" during the war by Communist agents at the Los Alamos Atomic Project.

In conclusion the article stated that a national officer of the CIO, who has often been regarded as the "brain trust" of the CIO's Communist minority, was working closely with this Communist unit.

You attached a routing slip and inquired, "What are the facts regarding this?"

You may recall that on October 9, 1947, James Walter of the Washington "Times Herald" turned over to Mr. Nichols a blind memorandum concerning numerous subjects in the Gregory Case and other individuals previously reported as active in a Communist underground parallel in the 1930's. The contents of this memorandum were substantially the same as the information furnished the Bureau by Whittaker Chambers in 1942, when Chambers acted as a courier for Alexander Stevens, alias J. Peters. Chambers mentioned among others active in this underground parallel, the name of Charles Kramer, a subject in the Gregory Case and presently a close associate and advisor to Senator Claude Pepper of Florida. Another name mentioned by him was Lee Pressman presently council for the CIO. Although Pressman is not a subject in the Gregory Case, he is being investigated in that case as a contact of numerous subjects.

It is believed that Rushmore referred to Kramer in the first part of his article as the "left-winger who is on the staff of a prominent Democratic Senator," and further referred to Pressman in the last paragraph of his article as the "individual who is working closely with this Communist unit" and whom he described as a "national officer of the CIO." James Walter's blind memorandum also mentioned a woman named Hedda or Hetta Gumperts whose husband's name is Paul Messing, a member of the German Communist Party. The Gumperts were described as having a farm near Quakertown, Pennsylvania. You may recall that Hedi and Paul Messing are known Soviet Espionage Agents and they have been thoroughly and exhaustively interviewed by our New York Office and have furnished considerable and valuable information relative to Soviet Espionage.

This farm at Quakertown, Pennsylvania is undoubtedly the one referred to in the article by Rushmore.

Mr. Nichols advised in his memorandum to Mr. Tolson dated October 10, 1947, that Ed Nellor of the "New York Sun" was cognizant of the memorandum in James Walter's possession.

It is possible, therefore, that Howard Rushmore may have gotten his information from Nellor or Walters or some other members of the staff of their papers. It appears, however, that he has exaggerated and has resorted to some guesswork as to the extent and identity of the positions held by the persons involved in the Grand Jury investigation.

Red on Senator's Staff Probed

Shown in Contact With Central 'Cell'

By HOWARD RUSHMORE

Department of Justice agents are investigating the activities of a Washington left-winger who is on the staff of a prominent Democratic Senator, it was learned today.

This probe, which is part of the special Grand Jury inquiry into Soviet espionage currently going on at the Federal Courthouse here, has been conducted with utmost secrecy for the past several months by a picked squad of Federal agents.

During their investigation, these agents have obtained evidence showing that the Senator's employe was in contact with members of the underground central "cell" maintained by the Communists in the capital.

CLEARING HOUSE.

A member of the Communist Party, this employe worked with other Reds who had wormed their way into executive jobs in the Maritime Commission, the Bureau of Standards, the Library of Congress, the State Department and other agencies.

This "cell" which was unknown to other Communist Party members, was formed as a "clearing house" for military information.

Each member of the "cell" in the various government agencies was assigned the job of stealing documents, obtaining blue prints and copying diplomatic reports.

These were brought to weekly "cell" meetings and then turned over to a courier who relayed them to the Russian Embassy.

ALSO MET ON FARM.

So important was this Washington Red "cell" that such Communist International secret representatives met with its members both in the Capital and at a farm near Quakerstown, Pa.

This farm served as a center for the espionage ring and was used as a "maildrop" during the war by Communist agents at the Los Alamos atomic project.

Working closely with this Communist unit was a national officer of the CIO who has often been regarded as the "brain truster" of the CIO's Communist minority.
